

Voice worksheet

Exercise 1

1. The word 'voice' can have various meanings: sound, expression of ideas/opinions, physical voice, give opinion (vb). Look at the synonyms or near synonyms for 'voice' and find the odd one out in each of the lists.

a. Sound:

■ language · noise · tone · utterance · wish · words

b. Expression of ideas/opinions:

■ decision · division · say · view · vote · will · wish

c. Physical voice:

■ instrument · jaw · medium · mouthpiece · organ · spokesman · vehicle

d. Give opinion (vb):

■ air · articulate · assert · declare · divulge · enunciate · express · invest · raise an issue · speak out · utter

2. Translate these expressions into Danish so that the meaning is identical with that of the English expression, i.e. you need not translate word for word.

- | | |
|---|-----------------------------|
| • an inner voice | • find a voice |
| • the voice of conscience/reason/sanity | • give voice to |
| • a critical voice | • have a voice in something |
| • a distinctive voice | • lend a voice |
| • add a voice | • make your voice heard |
| • have a voice | • raise your voice |
| • lower one's voice | • speak with one voice |

Exercise 2 Rea the rest of the text and write notes on what the text tells us about:

- a. what Joey has to say about himself
- b. what Joey has to say about Big Ant
- c. what Big Ant has to say about herself
- d. what Big Ant has to say about Joey
- e. the world surrounding Joey and Big Ant
- f. the time they live in
- g. the time that was before the Cold Time
- h. places that people used to go to

- i. the way people used to travel
- j. th'Irthsore
- k. Joey's parents
- l. Joey's grandfather
- m. what happened in the Alps
- n. what kind of people work in the Alps
- o. the result of activities in the Alps
- p. normality
- q. what Joey has to say about what happened to the world
- r. what Big Ant has to say about what happened to the world
- s. the Committee's point of view
- t. what is going to happen to Joey
- u. what is going to happen to the ham

Exercise 3 LANGUAGE AND TEXT STRUCTURE

1. Reread and examine these three excerpts from the text from a linguistic point of view:

- “I liv in a shack [...] Me to”, lines 20–24
- Big Ant’s first Note to Commity, lines 25–32
- The letter from the Committee at the end of the story, lines 109–116

Find examples of incorrect use of language in each of the texts. Focus on:

- spelling
- grammar, particularly concord and adjectives/adverbs
- punctuation
- sentence structure and complexity
- the choice of words

Suggest reasons for the different levels of correctness in the three excerpts.

2. Text structure: What is the function of the OK OKs?
3. The text is published as a short story. In what way does it resemble short stories as you know the genre? You may consider the beginning, middle, incidents, characters, plot development, dialogue.
4. How many people are speaking or writing? Are they writing to each other / about each other? What is the connection between the characters?
5. This is a definition of the epistolary /ɪˈpɪstələri/ novel: An epistolary novel is a novel written as a series of letters or similar documents. Sometimes diary entries or electronic documents like text messages are used. The word epistolary is derived via Latin from the Greek word epistle meaning letter. Reading letters rather than a traditional short story or novel allows the reader to construct their own image or story. They do not need to rely on a narrator.
 - a. To what extent is “How th’Irth Wint Rong by Hapless Joey@homeskool.guv” an epistolary short story? Compare with What Remains of Edith Finch?
 - b. What is the effect of writing the story through letters rather than as one coherent narrative?
6. Reflect on what reading parts of the text with a focus on language did to your understanding of the text.

Exercise 4 VOCABULARY

1. Apocalypse (Greek origin) means revelation and is used about Judgment Day in a biblical sense and the end of the world as described in the Book of Revelations, the last book of the New Testament in the Bible. The prefix post- means ‘after’. In post-apocalyptic literature, the setting is typically one in which the end of the world has already taken place and the characters are trying to survive and get on in a new world. The event that caused the world to collapse may be disease, war, or manmade and natural disasters.

- a. Find and explain the odd one out. Pay attention to prefixes and roots respectively: posthumous · postnatal · posture · postgraduate
 - b. Find and explain the odd one out. Pay attention to prefixes and roots respectively: post-war · post office · postmodernism · post-mortem
 - c. Find and explain the odd one out. Pay attention to prefixes and roots respectively: postponement · post-it-note · post-industrial · postscript
2. Topos (Greek origin) means place. The prefix u- means ‘no-’ and the prefix dys- means ‘lacking’ or ‘bad’. Utopias typically describe a society which is ‘perfect’ from the point of view of the narrator whereas dystopias describe the opposite. Utopias and dystopias are frequently found in science fiction.
- a. VOCABULARY. Find out what the following terms ending in -topia and derivations mean by looking at the prefixes.

• ecotopia	• utopia
• subtopia	• dystopia
• technotopia	• dysfunctional
• digitopia	• dyslexia
• pornotopia
 - b. Or – if you look at the suffix (derivative) of the words?
 - utopianism
 - dystopianism
 - c. Write one sentence about the text in which you include at least three of the words from the task online.

Exercise 5 RELIGIOUS PERSPECTIVE

1. Reread and examine the passage “Here is what happind ...” until “why is that I wonder.” (lines 68–102).
 - a. This passage includes references to God and the Bible. Find examples of words which have a religious dimension.
 - b. According to Joey, what did the people do, and what was God’s reaction?
 - c. What light do biblical references throw on your understanding of the text?

Exercise 6 SCIENCE

1. Reread and examine the passage beginning “But it was not the same normil ...” until “...the say-so.” (lines 92–108).
2. Find out what a collider is and what its purpose is.
3. Find and watch a film clip about the CERN Collider.
4. What links can you establish between the film clip and the text?
5. What new light does the film throw on your reading and understanding of the text?